Help fix the crisis in early childhood literacy.

Literacy is a fundamental right for all children and yet early childhood literacy rates in New South Wales are some of the lowest in the country. When a child misses out on early literacy skills, they can experience learning and development difficulties that last a lifetime.

Every child deserves a strong start in life, which is why we're calling on the New South Wales government to deliver an early childhood literacy package through public libraries.

Already, our libraries are safe, inclusive and trusted community spaces and, with proper funding and support, they could help ensure every child gets the early literacy skills they deserve.
